Welcome to South Eastern Ontario

South Eastern Ontario is woven together by the St. Lawrence River, the Rideau Canal, the Bay of Quinte, and Lake Ontario, waterways that shape both the landscape and the experience. Along these shores, visitors can wander historic downtowns, explore charming villages, take in local art and theatre, and savour exceptional food and drink. Out on the water, the region offers renowned sailing, celebrated dive sites, sandy beaches, and relaxed cruising that showcases the beauty of communities from Brockville and Kingston to Picton, Cornwall, Belleville, Westport, Merrickville, and Kemptville.

Inspired by the original Mohawk name 'Kaniatarowanenneh' (big water), this beautiful stretch of Ontario is entirely linked by water – from Cornwall on the St. Lawrence River to Lake Ontario's Kingston and on to the Bay of Quinte. In between, it's dotted by hundreds of lakes and winds its way north along the UNESCO World Heritage designated Rideau Canal. Strap on your hiking boots and take in some fresh air, or set sail and enjoy the wind in your hair. No matter how you choose to explore it, South Eastern Ontario offers some of the best places to visit in Ontario.

Prince Edward County

One of Canada's newest wine regions, "The County" is a place of inspiration, hospitality, tranquility, and fun, where rural roots and creative pursuits come together to make a unique island vibe. Follow bucolic backroads to award-winning wineries, cideries, and breweries. Stop in at art galleries and artists' studios on the Arts Trail. Visit with artisanal food producers, then sample their wares on the Taste Trail. With 800 kilometres of shoreline, one of Canada's best beaches and a range of accommodations from camping to luxury spa suites, you can relax, rejuvenate and experience the majestic in all seasons in beautiful Prince Edward County.

Spring

Eagerly awaited, each spring brings blooming lilac hedges as tall as houses; rare migratory birds stopping for a rest; the return of asparagus, wild leeks and spinach to local restaurant menus and our sweetest treat, maple syrup. Lake Ontario is still chilly but it's worth it to bundle up for beach days, hit the trails for trillium-filled forest hikes, get dancing at music festivals, do some art studio hopping, and explore popular spots without the crowds of summer.

Summer

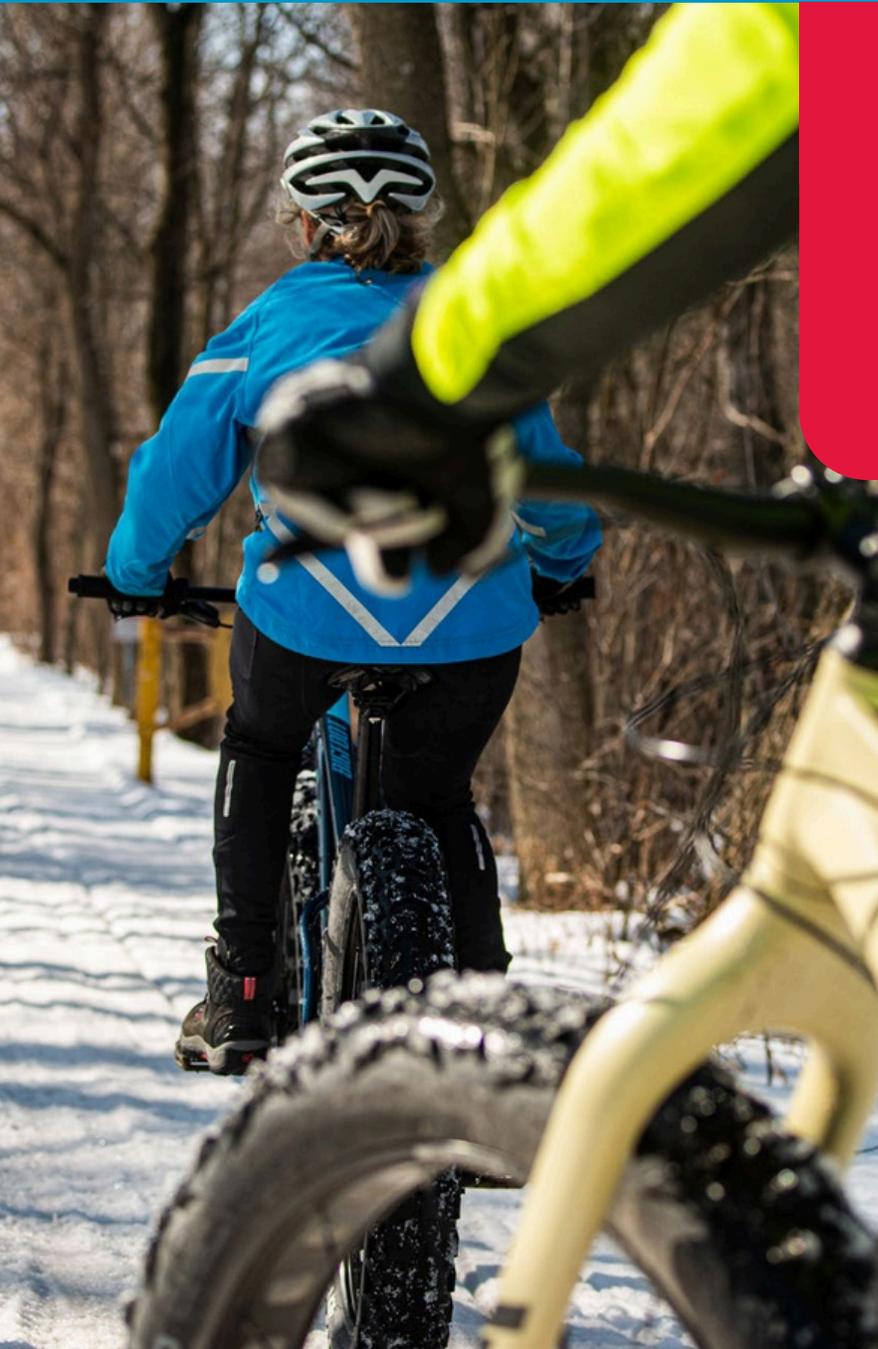

Experience Sandbanks or North Beach Provincial Parks and enjoy the clear shallow waters and running down the dunes. Campgrounds and popular spots are full, festivals are plentiful, boats and canoes are docked in the harbours. Walk, run or bike all or part of the Millennium Trail; this 49-kilometre trail goes from Carrying Place to Picton, linking communities like Wellington and Bloomfield, and passing by farmers' fields, marshes, creeks and forests.

Fall

True to our agricultural roots as the former Garden County of Canada – when we were canning one third of the country's tomatoes and pumpkins – fall is when warm days and cool nights prompt harvesting from fields and vineyards. Check out the tractor pull at the local fair, hit the farmers' markets for seasonal eats or perhaps get your hands dirty helping out at a winery picking party. Bring your bike or rent one here to explore the natural beauty of the island on two wheels.

Winter

Swimsuit weather is over but the icy lakeshores make for stunning walks and photography. Warm up at a local winery, brewery, cidery or restaurant – they often have bonfires and snowshoes on hand. Head downtown to peruse boutique shops and find that perfect County-made gift, or two.

Did You Know That...

Natives of the Iroquois tribe were the first people to live in Prince Edward County?

And Samuel de Champlain was the first European to discover the area?

Bay of Quinte

You might know the Bay of Quinte region as a midway stop on road trips between Toronto and Montreal, as a sports tournament destination, as the home of Canada's largest air base, or as a top spot for walleye fishing. You might know the Bay of Quinte as the place you grew up in, or you might not know it at all. The Bay of Quinte region is affordable and attractive, allowing for an attainable vacation. Come for a visit to see why we love to live, work and play here.

Spring

The National Air Force Museum of Canada - This massive and newly completed facility serves as both an educational museum but also an interactive experience, where visitors can learn about the origins and ongoing story of Canada's Air Force. This is the largest Air Force museum in Canada and is home to an incredible collection of aircraft, artwork and various historical artefacts. Each pristine aircraft on display inside the museum has been restored by a dedicated and passionate team of volunteers.

Summer

An 85-kilometer-long waterway, 30 nearby conservation areas, and a network of year-round trails that gets you right up close to the Bay of Quinte's communities. Quinte West's natural scenic environment makes it an ideal place for nature lovers. The conservation areas and nature parks in Quinte West are perfect for exploring on foot or by cycling. From a real lookout tower and an abandoned limestone quarry to an old homestead, there are surprises around every corner of the trails. Be sure to check in with the individual conservation area on unfolding restrictions or visiting protocols.

www.bayofquinte.ca

Fall

The Bay of Quinte shines in fall, especially for craft-beer lovers. Local breweries like Signal Brewery and Meyers Creek Brewing Company offer a chance to meet the makers and sample fresh, flavourful pours. Farmers' markets set the tone for relaxed Saturday mornings, filled with local produce and a welcoming community vibe. It's also an excellent season for golf; cool temperatures, quiet fairways, and stunning views. From nationally ranked courses to the historic Bay of Quinte Golf & Country Club, it's an ideal way to enjoy the outdoors before winter arrives.

Winter

Batawa Ski Hill offers winter fun with nine runs for all skill levels, plus a terrain park for extra thrills. After a few hours on the slopes, the cozy chalet and fireplace make the perfect warm-up spot. Rentals are available, so you can hit the hill even without your own gear.

The Bay of Quinte is also a major draw for winter anglers, known worldwide for its pike, bass and especially walleye. Ice fishing typically begins in early January and peaks through February, staying popular until the walleye season closes on March 1.

Rideau Canal

The UNESCO-designated Rideau Canal stretches from Lake Ontario in Kingston to the Ottawa River following the Cataraqui and Rideau Rivers. It is 202 kilometres long, of which about 19 kilometres is man-made (locks and canal cuts), the rest are natural waters. There are 45 locks with 23 lock stations along the main route of the Rideau. The canal winds its way through historic sites, charming villages, quaint attractions and spectacular recreation areas, offering visitors a variety of world-class arts, heritage and recreation experiences.

Spring

Explore the nooks and crannies of this paddler's paradise! Make your own ripples along the Rideau Canal and hit the water paddling. Calm, clear water and natural sights entice people of all ages to pick up a paddle and discover the intimate side of the Rideau. More than 30 launch ramps and most lock stations provide access to the canal and unlike powerboats, paddlers have the advantage of exploring bays and ponds to get a sense of the wildlife that calls the Rideau home.

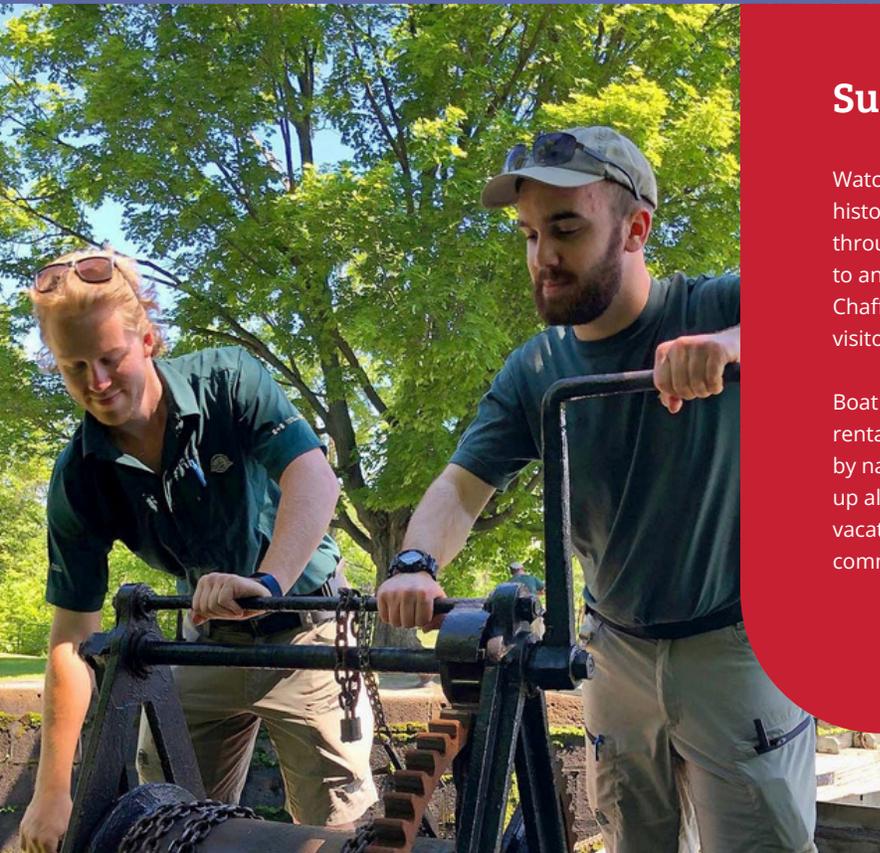

Polish those clubs and head to one of the fine golf courses along the Rideau to take advantage of that warming sun at championship calibre courses.

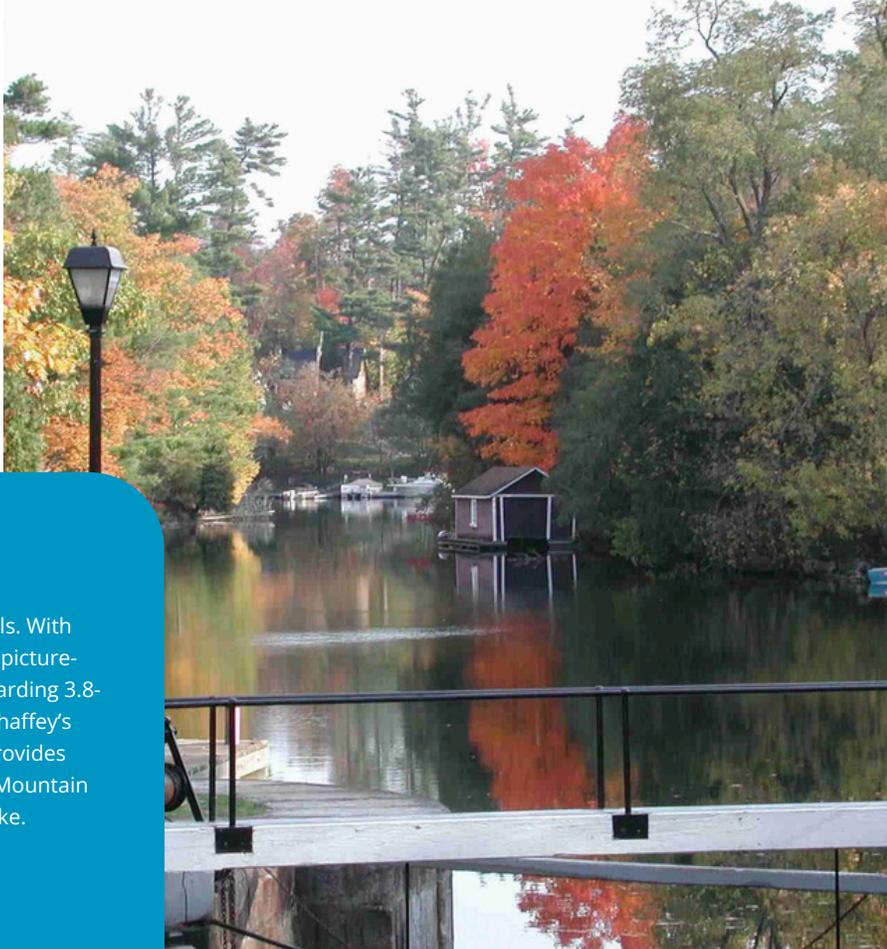

Summer

Watch the lockmasters and crew hand crank boats through on this historic waterway. Better yet, rent a boat and experience locking through first hand. Canal staff along the Rideau are friendly and willing to answer questions, and in some locations, such as at Kingston Mills, Chaffey's Lock, Jones Falls and Merrickville, there are museums and visitor centres at the stations.

Boat rentals are available at some spots along the canal; indulge in a rental to cross this experience off your bucket list. The Rideau Canal is, by nature, a marvel through and through. But it's also what is popping up all around it that makes for an unforgettable day trip or full-on vacation. Discover incredible beauty at every turn, coupled with unique community experiences all rooted in history along the Rideau Canal!

Fall

Explore the Rideau Canal's natural beauty by venturing onto its trails. With rocky outcrops, lush forest, and sparkling water, the route delivers picture-perfect views at every turn. Rock Dunder near Morton offers a rewarding 3.8-kilometre summit loop with sweeping vistas over the canal. Near Chaffey's Lock, a renovated early-1900s train bridge on the Cataraqui Trail provides another standout lookout just a short walk from the lock. At Foley Mountain in Westport, Spy Rock offers a dramatic view over Upper Rideau Lake.

Winter

The North Grenville Trail System links together 150 kilometres of trails, roads, walkways and waterways throughout the municipality. The Sugar Bush Island Trail near Davis Lock also offers incredible views from high atop a rock lookout. It's an easy hike among Butternut, Sugar Maple, White Pine and Bitternut trees. Be delighted by the abundance of bird life here and by finding stairs in the middle of the woods to help easily traverse some hills along the trail!

Did You Know That...

Did You Know That...

Kingston boasts four Rembrandt paintings, two film festivals and one vibrant downtown shopping scene.

Home to Ontario's oldest public market and Canada's hippest live music scene, Kingston is a walkable city, where hidden alleyways contain antique markets and restaurant patios.

www.visitkingston.ca

If you are a history buff, you've got to check out the Fort Henry National Historic Site here in Kingston. Built during the war of 1812, Fort Henry was Kingston's main defence due to its location between the three waterways: Rideau Canal, St. Lawrence River and Lake Ontario. Renovated into a living museum in the 1930s, Fort Henry is a blast from the past with genuine cannons, jail cells and hidden passages to explore.

Fall

Fall is a great time to visit Kingston, there's plenty do from live performances by local talent to events to get you in the mood for Halloween. You may want to leave the kids at home for this frighteningly fun outing. Located in the historic (and probably haunted) Fort Henry, a military defence fort originally built in the early 1800s, Fort Fright holds nothing back when it comes to scare tactics.

Winter

Lace-up and rediscover the magic of outdoor skating at the Springer Market Square rink. The square is historic in itself; the market has been on-site in warmer months since 1801. During the winter, this space becomes a public rink that welcomes people to enjoy the colder temps. It's the perfect place to rekindle your love of winter, especially when the snowflakes start falling all around. Magic!

Frontenac County

Imagine blue skies and calm clear waters, rolling farmland and jutting rock faces, pristine forests and quaint small towns. It's more than just a place, it's Frontenac. Frontenac encompasses an area of almost 4,000 square kilometres from the northern stretches of untouched Crown land to the sandy southern shores of Wolfe Island. There is a sense among the people who live in Frontenac -- this area is special. Special for its recreational opportunities, its highly skilled food producers and its growing number of high-quality events. Swing by for a visit sometime, we'll be happy to show you around.

www.infrontenac.ca

Spring

Experience nature up close and personal by walking trails among rock, trees and wildlife. Frontenac Provincial Park provides extensive hiking and paddling routes, through more than 100 kilometres of looped backpacking and hiking trails, and through 22 lakes! This is where backcountry recreation comes alive as avid hikers can explore Canadian Shield and lush green wilderness. Frontenac Provincial Park's 5,355 hectares even offers 48 interior campsites, so excursions don't have to end at dusk.

Summer

Wolfe Island is a melting pot of habitats that invite hundreds of species of birds to come and spend their days gazing upon the stunning scenery. You won't have a problem spotting some of the larger birds that stick to the island including owls, osprey and hawks.

Tucked away in the Wolfe Island Community Hall is a home for fine art, crafts and creations from the artists on the island in Frontenac County. The Wolfe Island Gallery is located in Marysville on Wolfe Island, and allows local creativeness to bloom by giving it a collective space in the historic hall with a community-minded approach.

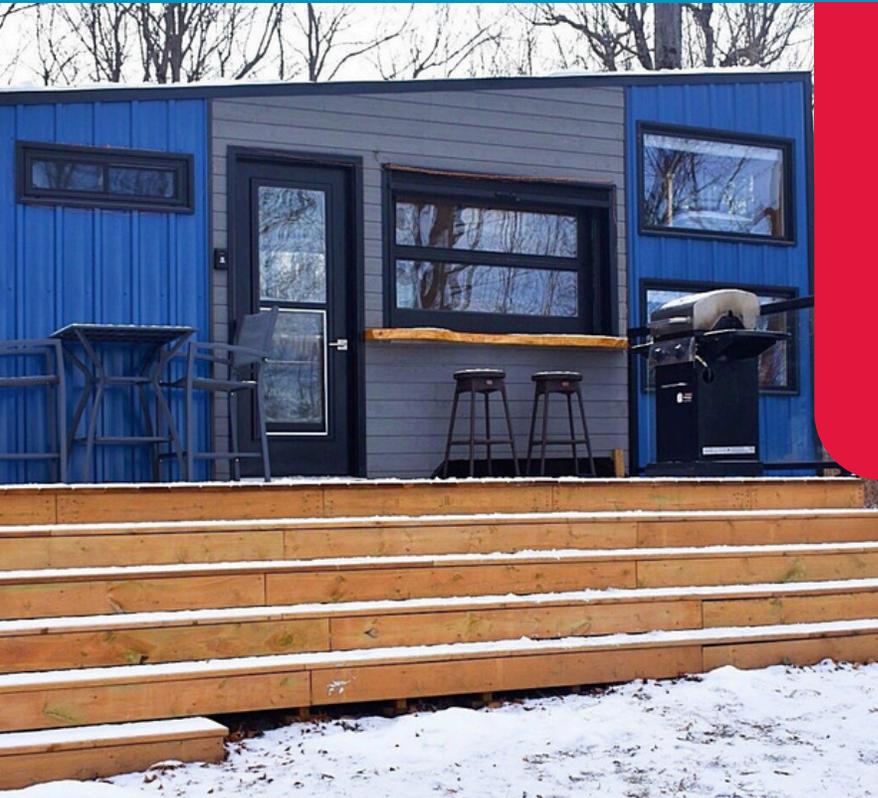

Fall

Watch the colours change before you as you pedal through the field, forest, and alongside the water while exploring Frontenac County. The K&P Trail is a 63-kilometre dedicated off-road trail that makes for a perfect fall cycling or hiking getaway. Unique vantage points along the Cataraqui Trail make for unforgettable fall foliage views – cycling is encouraged on this 103-kilometre trail that stretches from Smiths Falls to Strathcona.

Winter

Escape from the urban grind by booking a two-night stay at Cabinscape's Penner Cabin. This cozy, pint-sized cabin is located close to Frontenac Provincial Park and surrounded by hundreds of kilometres of hiking trails to explore. Unplug and unwind as this backcountry experience will have you feeling like you're one with nature. You won't get bored as you enjoy the stunning surroundings during the day and relax beside a warm fire in the evening.

Gananoque 1000 Islands

As Charles Dickens rightly noted during his trip here in the 1840s, the Thousand Islands “can hardly be imagined.” Where else in the world can you find almost two thousand islands, all unique and just waiting to be discovered? Gananoque is the perfect jumping off point for a 1000 Islands cruise, scuba diving adventure or even helicopter tour. Visitors enjoy its shops and galleries as well as taking in a show on the waterfront at the popular Thousand Islands Playhouse. You'll hear stories and legends of triumph, tragedy, romance, shipwreck and piracy, and see the lavish homes of the rich and famous aboard a 1000 Islands cruise.

Spring

If you want to experience the 1000 Islands by bike instead of boat, you'll surely enjoy the paved bike path that runs parallel to the 1000 Islands Parkway and the St. Lawrence River. Plenty of access points ensure a whole lot of ways you can configure a trip. And with a 10-foot wide, newly paved trail, this is an outing the whole family can enjoy! The path along the 1000 Islands Parkway is a great place to start! The 37-kilometre paved multi-use pathway that runs adjacent to the St. Lawrence River offers cycling enthusiasts spectacular water views along the way. It's smooth-surfaced, separate from the high traffic roadway, and even runs alongside Landon's Bay with a spectacular lookout.

Summer

Journey through the 1000 Islands on a sight-seeing cruise with City Cruises Gananoque and discover untold secrets of the St. Lawrence River. The Lost Ships of the 1000 Islands Cruise uses storytelling, sonar imagery and video to share the history of shipwrecks dating back to as early as the 1700s. Grab a drink and enjoy the beautiful 1000 Islands mansions, Boldt castle and many more scenic marvels.

Known for having one of the top five theatre festivals in Ontario, the Thousand Islands Playhouse is bound to impress. The playhouse is a true-blue Canadian monument, producing almost all of its shows through Canadian writers. You don't have to worry about missing a show either – it is one of the most active theatres in South Eastern Ontario. So, whether you are visiting for a day or a week, attending a show at the Thousand Islands Playhouse is a rare and exclusive opportunity to experience true Canadian talent.

Fall

Enjoy the crisp calm of the St. Lawrence near Gananoque at this time of year and glide through the water with a 1000 Islands Kayaking guide or on your own. Paddle at your own pace to discover the inlets and island life surrounded by nature. Guides can offer cultural significance along the way, and even prepare an island gourmet lunch! Share an intimate guided tour of the islands by kayak to explore up close and personal. Open seven days a week until mid-October and then weekends only until November.

Winter

Enjoy the stunning winter landscape and get a bird's eye view of the 1000 Islands by traveling first class with the 1000 Islands Helicopter Tours. Perfect for a romantic setting to spend with your special someone, or a great memory to create with family and friends. The view is unlike anything you've ever seen, and is truly the best way to take in the beauty of the 1000 Islands.

Did You Know That...

The 1000 Islands in South Eastern Ontario inspired the World Famous 1000 Islands Dressing?

The salad dressing's name comes from the 1000 Islands region, located along the upper St. Lawrence River between the United States and Canada. Within that region, one common version of the dressing's origin story says that a fishing guide's wife, Sophia LaLonde, made the condiment as part of her husband George's shore dinner.

Brockville

Brockville is an enchanting waterfront destination. Experience a sound and light show in Canada's First Rail Tunnel. Visit the Aquarium, enjoy live theatre or a boat cruise in the famous 1000 Islands. Brockville is one of the world's best freshwater diving destinations with many wrecks and an underwater sculpture park.

Summer

Experience the breathtaking charm of the 1000 Islands firsthand with a 1000 Islands & Seaway Cruise. Departing from historic Brockville waterfront, these cruises carry you along the storied St. Lawrence River, where the scenery shifts from rugged shoreline to a maze of emerald islands set against sparkling blue water.

As the eastern breeze rolls across the deck, you'll enjoy a front-row seat to some of the river's most iconic landmarks. Glide past the romantic Boldt Castle, a symbol of devotion and tragedy, and the stately Singer Castle, perched proudly on Dark Island with its fascinating architecture and hidden passages. The narration on board brings the region's history, legends and river culture to life, adding depth to every view.

Fall

Step into a remarkable piece of Canadian history by walking through the Brockville Railway Tunnel, Canada's very first railway tunnel. Stretching beneath Brockville's historic downtown, this restored passageway invites visitors to wander through time. Interpretive panels share stories of how the tunnel once connected the bustling waterfront to the rail lines above, helping shape the city's early growth.

Winter

Brockville has some of the best beers around, and you can be sure to find the right ale for you from one of their many breweries around the area. BUSL is usually known for its delicious ciders, but has recently partnered with Arbru to create a premium craft lager adding another five-star drink to its menu! Be inspired by the natural surroundings, which tell a story about the exceptional landscapes of the 1000 Islands at Mac Johnson Wildlife Area. With 11 kilometres of trails that cross woodland, wetland and field, this is the perfect place to spend a day outdoors.

Did You Know That...

The oldest railway tunnel in Canada actually exists under the downtown core of Brockville, Ontario?

Located in the tranquil community on the shores of the St. Lawrence River at the eastern edge of the 1000 Islands, the Brockville Railway Tunnel was built between 1854 and 1860 to allow the fledgling Brockville and Ottawa Railway to connect the Brockville industrial waterfront area to the outlying areas lying between the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers.

Whether you're seeking history, culinary delights, or breathtaking scenery, Prescott Russell invite you to experience a unique blend of culture, nature, and hospitality.

www.sdpr-prcdc.ca

Spring

Spring in Prescott Russell arrives with a gentle shift with longer days, mild breezes, and the countryside waking up after winter's quiet stretch. Fields along County Road 17 start to green, sugar shacks wrap up their final boils, and the rural roads between towns like Clarence-Rockland, Alfred, Plantagenet and St-Isidore become ideal for relaxed drives or early-season cycling.

A highlight of any spring visit is a stop at the St-Albert Cheese Co-op, one of the region's most cherished attractions. As the snow recedes, the creamery comes alive with visitors seeking fresh curds, classic cheddars and locally inspired specialties. It's a perfect spot to pick up picnic supplies before exploring nearby trails, riverfront parks or the quiet backroads that define the season here.

Summer

Summer in Prescott Russell arrives in full colour, with warm days, open skies and a relaxed rural rhythm that's perfect for exploring. A stop at a local winery—such as the Vankleek Hill Vineyard, is a summer classic. Guests can sip crisp whites or light, fruit-forward reds on outdoor patios overlooking rolling farmland, often with live music or small bites on weekends. It's a distinctly laid-back way to take in the landscape.

Just down the road, Beau's Brewing Co. anchors the region's craft-beer culture. The brewery's patio and tasting room come alive in summer, offering an ideal place to sample seasonal releases or pick up a mixed pack before heading out to explore nearby villages and rural trails.

Fall

Oimet Farms Adventure becomes a seasonal highlight, especially for families in the fall. Its sprawling corn maze, wagon rides, and harvest activities capture the spirit of autumn, set against fields framed by changing leaves. It's a lively stop before or after exploring the region's many walking trails.

Whether in Larose Forest, along the South Nation River, or tucked into smaller community parks, walking trails offer peaceful, leaf-covered pathways perfect for an afternoon wander. Wildlife is active, the forest canopy glows, and the quieter pace of the season invites reflection.

Winter

For thrill-seekers in winter in Prescott Russell, dog sledding offers a unique way to experience the frosty landscape, with teams of eager huskies pulling enthusiasts through snow-laden trails and open fields. Snowmobiling is equally popular, as groomed trails wind through the forested countryside, connecting communities and giving riders a true sense of freedom on the winter roads.

Between the exhilaration of these activities and cozy stops in local cafés or small-town shops, winter in Prescott Russell is both active and inviting; a season where the beauty of South Eastern Ontario's landscapes really comes alive.

Upriver in Gananoque, the Thousand Islands Playhouse brings professional summer theatre to life and is a destination in and of itself.

Cycling

The air and waters of South Eastern Ontario are clear. The summer sun is gentle, and the outdoors invites cycling from hours to days. The rolling countryside here makes cycling accessible for every skill level. Criss-crossed by well-defined routes, it's easy to go at your own pace or keep up with one of the many organized bike tours that connect area attractions. Thousands of miles of country roads and dedicated bike trails make exploration expansive and easy. From Kingston, hit the K&P Trail and bike north to Harrowsmith -- keep heading north on the K&P, or turn and take the Cataraqui Trail -- both routes thread silently through nature's best. The Waterfront Trail offers 90 kilometres of uninterrupted cycling along a scenic route on the shore of the St. Lawrence River. Running right through the heart of colonial Cornwall and neighbouring towns, Adventure Cyclist magazine calls it "one of the best cycling tour routes in Canada."

Heritage and History

Morrisburg's Upper Canada Village is a living, working, colonial town where 1860s pioneer life in Upper Canada comes alive. Make your way up river to Brockville and discover Canada's First Railway Tunnel. Continue to Rockport and enjoy an important steamboat building, transportation and cord wood refueling centre. Brockville, Rockport and Gananoque are three perfect locations to experience a 1000 Islands cruise – one of South Eastern Ontario's "Canadian Signature Experiences". From Gananoque, head east to Kingston, Canada's first Capital City, and tour Fort Henry and the Kingston Fortifications. Travel north up the Rideau Canal, through many lockstations and stop to tour the grounds at Jones Falls where you can talk with a Parks Canada blacksmith, tour his blacksmith shop as well as a defensible Lockmaster's House and visit the Stone Arch Dam. In Frontenac, cycle the historic K&P Trail and visit Trousdale's, Canada's Oldest General Store.

Fun Facts About the 1000 Islands

Not Just 1000 Islands:

In fact, there are actually 1,864 islands that make up this region. Some are small rocky shores, while others are very large.

Define Island:

To be considered an actual island in the 1000 Islands a piece of land must stay above water throughout the year and support a living tree.

Ahoy, landlubbers:

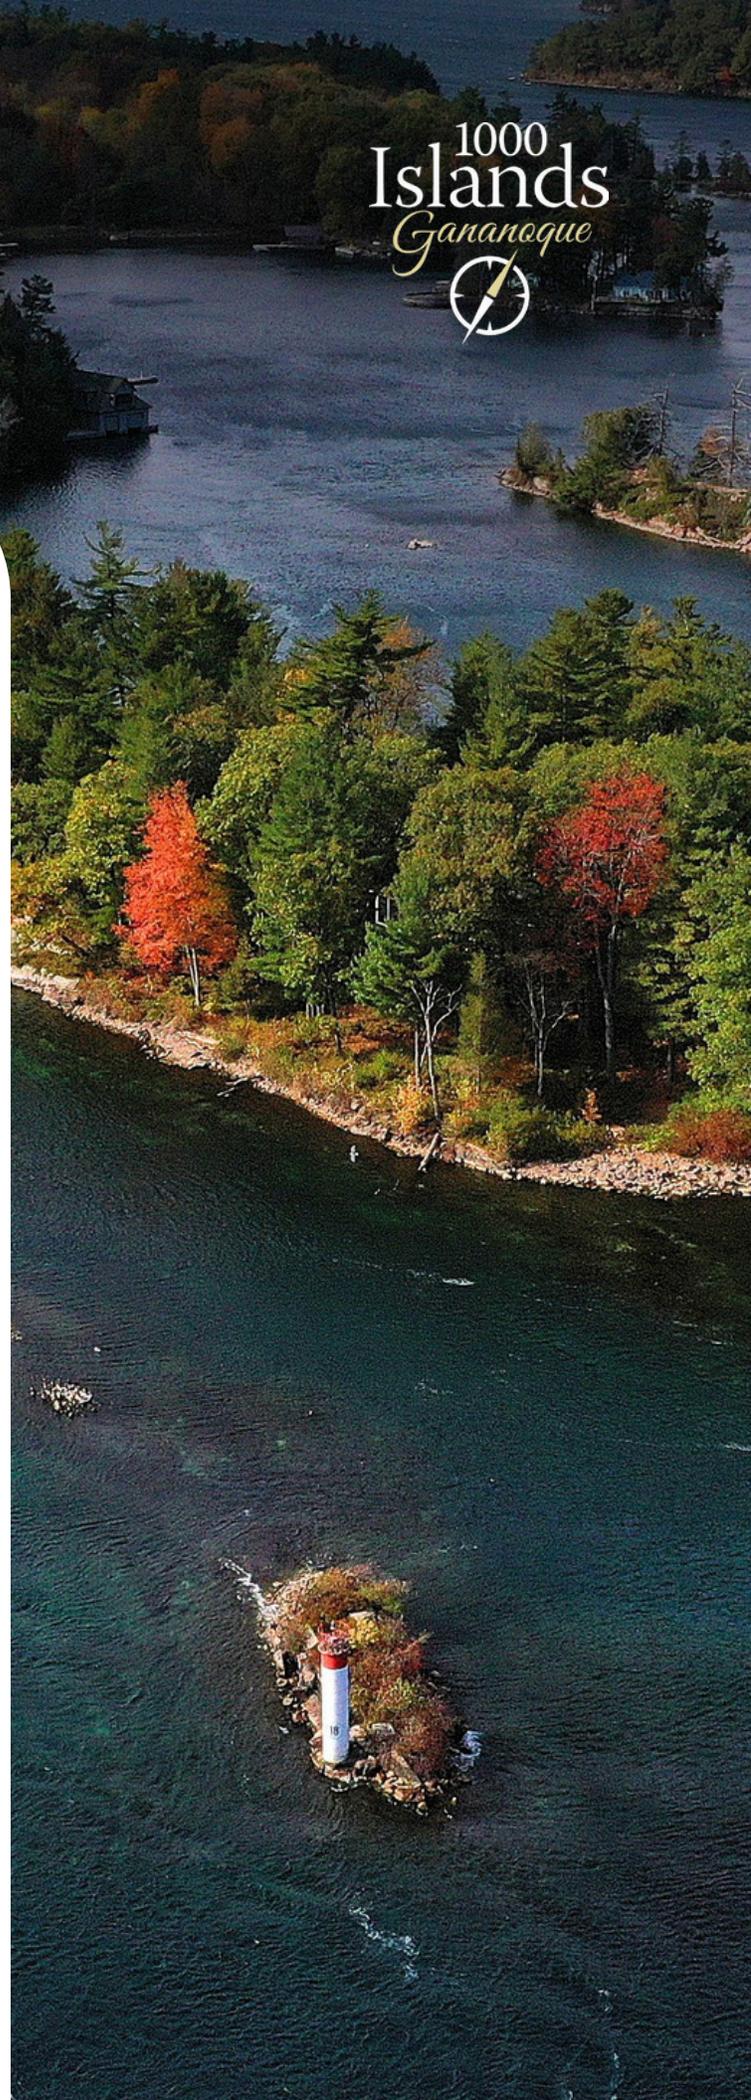

The majestic St. Lawrence River once had real pirates traversing its waters! One of those fabled pirates is Bill Johnston, who plundered and torched the British steamer Sir Robert Peel on the St. Lawrence in 1838 after looting its valuables and removing its passengers to shore.

Treasure hunters take note:

Tales of buried gold and jewels are rich in the 1000 Islands. Dozens of islands reportedly have barrels of silver or sacks of gold hiding beneath the soil, originating from raids in the 1800s, shipwrecks, and treacherous behaviour.

Bridging history:

There is a structure in the 1000 Islands that spans the history of two countries! President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Mackenzie King were on hand on August 18, 1938, to dedicate and officially open the Thousand Island Bridge and celebrate this achievement along the international border.

Smuggler's paradise:

Smuggling has an infamous history in the 1000 Islands. With all the nooks and crannies among rocks and caves, it's no wonder smugglers successfully ran everything from animals to alcohol to gold across the river! One such cove starts near Virgin Island and ends at Smuggler's Cove. The cave was known as a depot rumoured to house prohibition-era alcohol, pirate loot, and other treasure.

Underwater island intrigue:

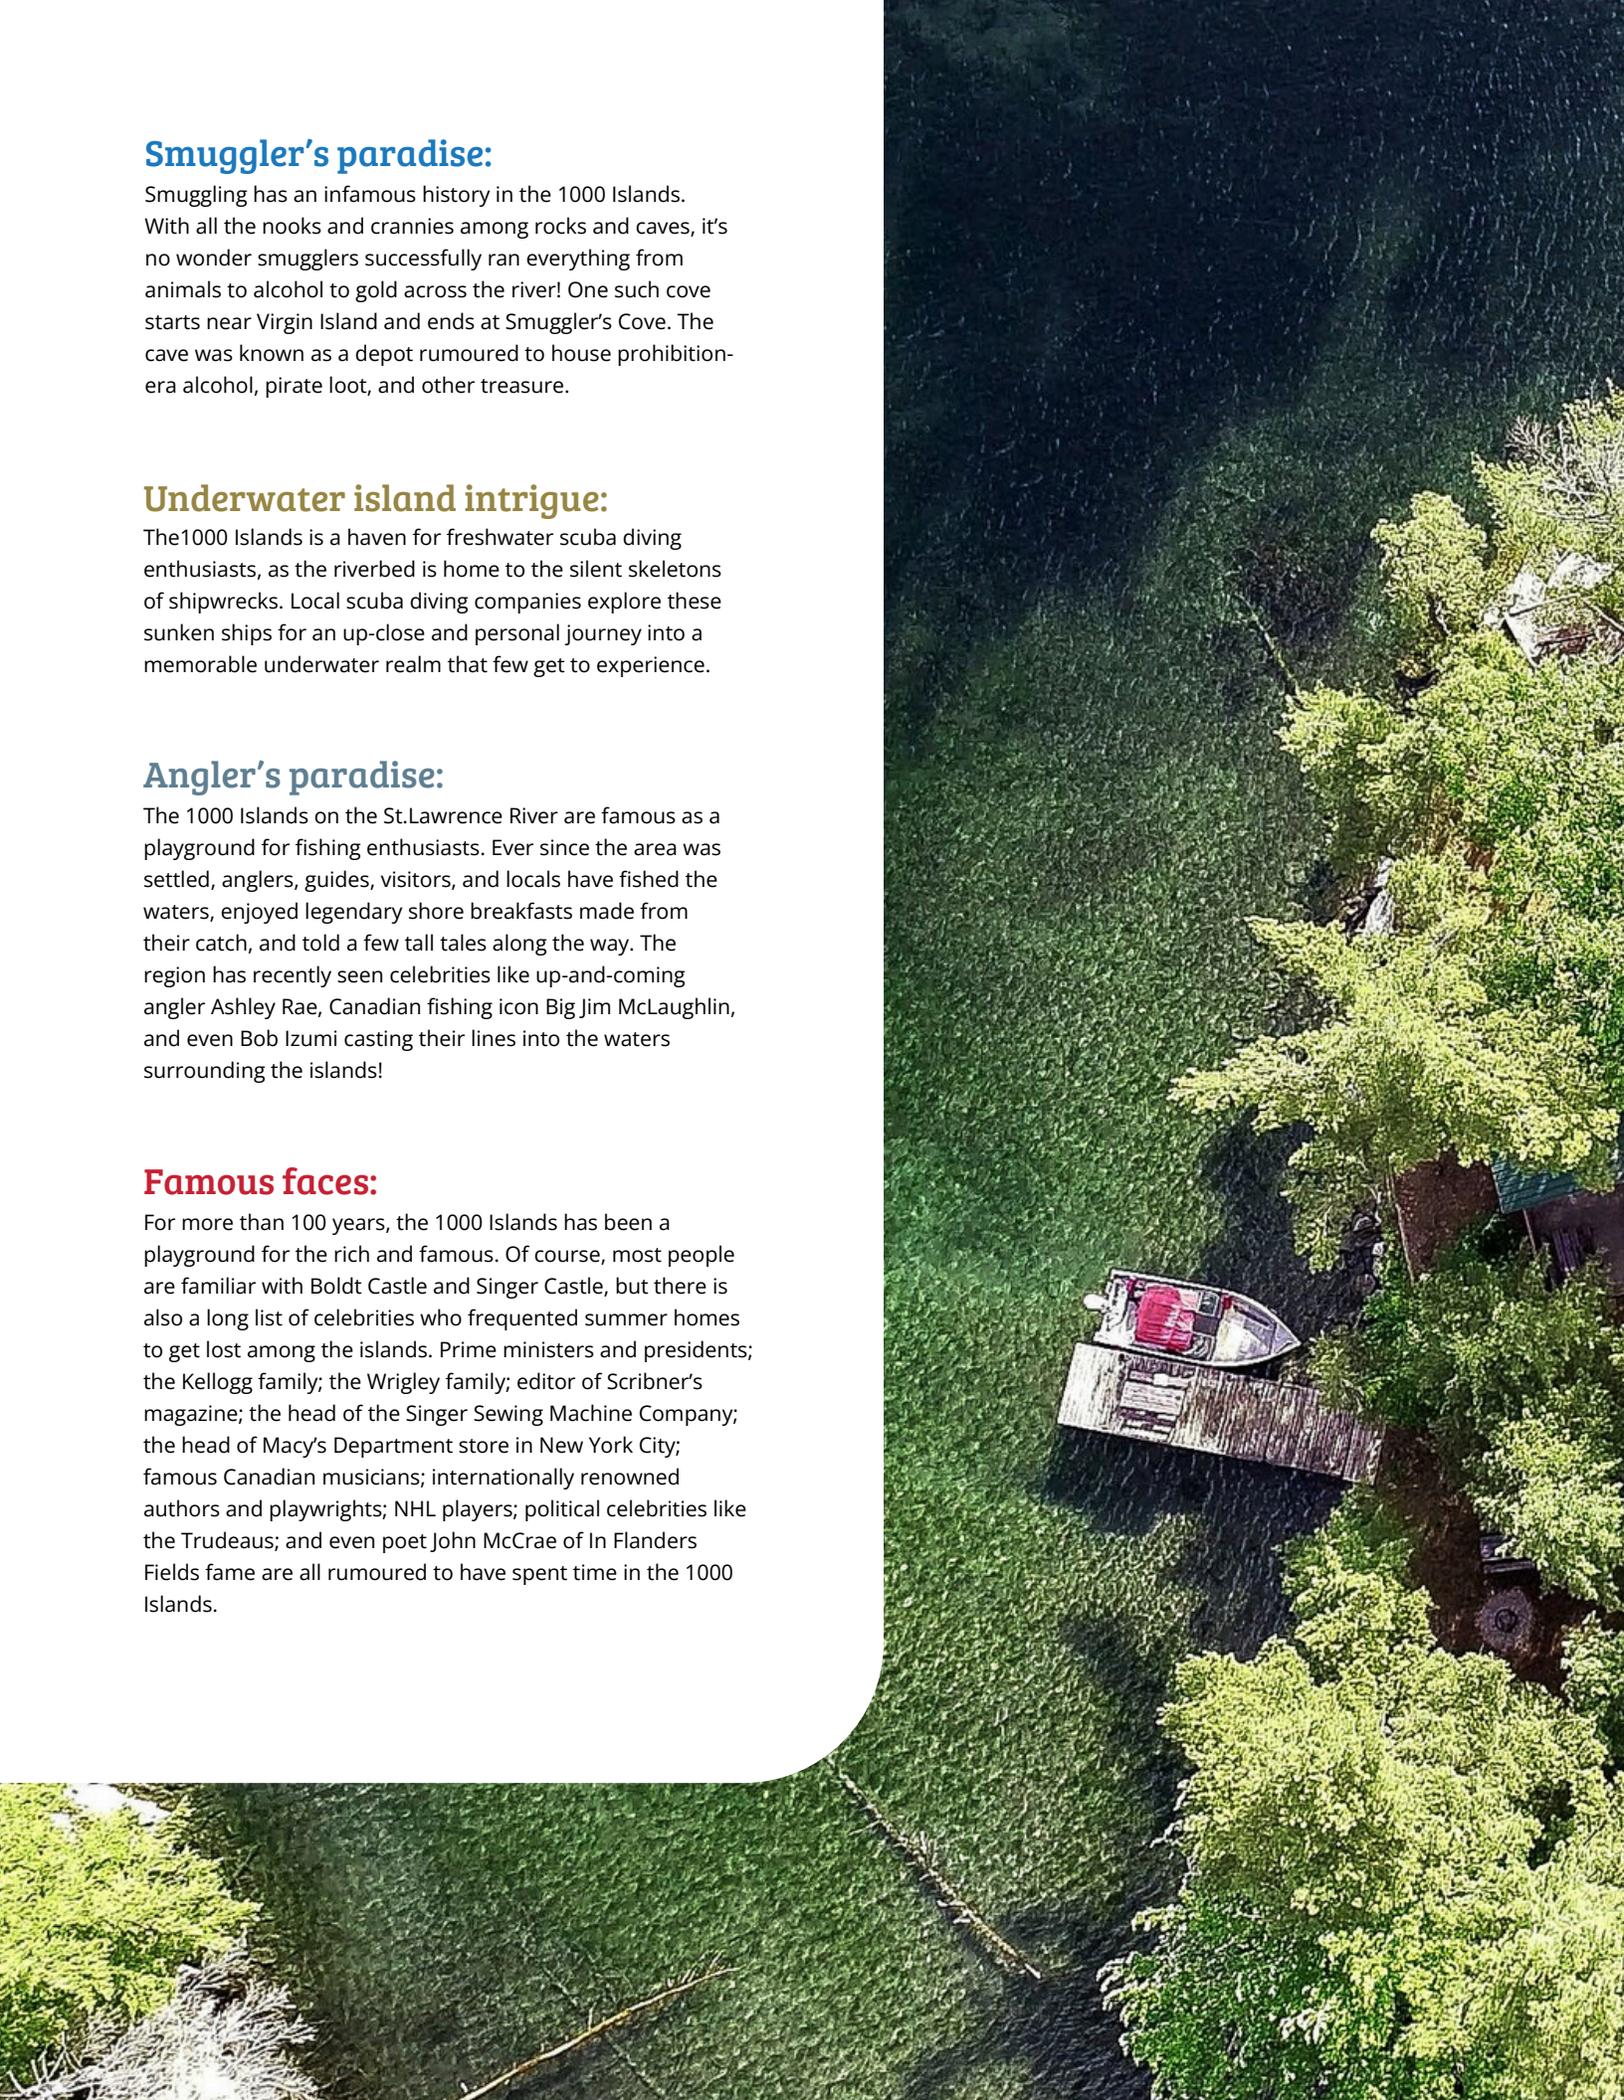

The 1000 Islands is a haven for freshwater scuba diving enthusiasts, as the riverbed is home to the silent skeletons of shipwrecks. Local scuba diving companies explore these sunken ships for an up-close and personal journey into a memorable underwater realm that few get to experience.

Angler's paradise:

The 1000 Islands on the St. Lawrence River are famous as a playground for fishing enthusiasts. Ever since the area was settled, anglers, guides, visitors, and locals have fished the waters, enjoyed legendary shore breakfasts made from their catch, and told a few tall tales along the way. The region has recently seen celebrities like up-and-coming angler Ashley Rae, Canadian fishing icon Big Jim McLaughlin, and even Bob Izumi casting their lines into the waters surrounding the islands!

Famous faces:

For more than 100 years, the 1000 Islands has been a playground for the rich and famous. Of course, most people are familiar with Boldt Castle and Singer Castle, but there is also a long list of celebrities who frequented summer homes to get lost among the islands. Prime ministers and presidents; the Kellogg family; the Wrigley family; editor of Scribner's magazine; the head of the Singer Sewing Machine Company; the head of Macy's Department store in New York City; famous Canadian musicians; internationally renowned authors and playwrights; NHL players; political celebrities like the Trudeaus; and even poet John McCrae of In Flanders Fields fame are all rumoured to have spent time in the 1000 Islands.
