Live lightly. Act boldly. Connect deeply.

Experience the joy of connecting to the natural world. Come to one of our inspiring workshops, book the lodge for a group gathering, or treat yourself to some quiet time in one of our woodland cabins.

Imagine a future where people and the earth flourish together. Our aim is to build resilient communities by connecting people with nature and by offering creative experiences. Wintergreen Studios models sustainable living and offers joyful, inclusive spaces for shared exploration and learning.

What we Value

Connecting with Nature

We honour the natural world. Our work is rooted in deep connections with the land and waters. By modeling sustainable practices—from off-grid buildings to native plantings—we foster hope and healing for the planet. Through traditional knowledge and scientific tools, we help protect species and promote climate action with care and intention.

The Creative Process

Creativity is a powerful way to connect with the land and each other. Through writing, music, art-making, design, and construction, we offer opportunities to imagine new possibilities. Our creative programs invite people to explore their place in the world while engaging with the environment in meaningful, hands-on ways.

Inclusivity

We strive to create spaces where everyone feels welcome, seen, heard, and valued. Our work is guided by principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion. We are committed to the ongoing Indigenization of our programs and to the process of Truth and Reconciliation. Our programs are dynamic and responsive, grounded in the belief that a sense of belonging is essential to our collective well-being.

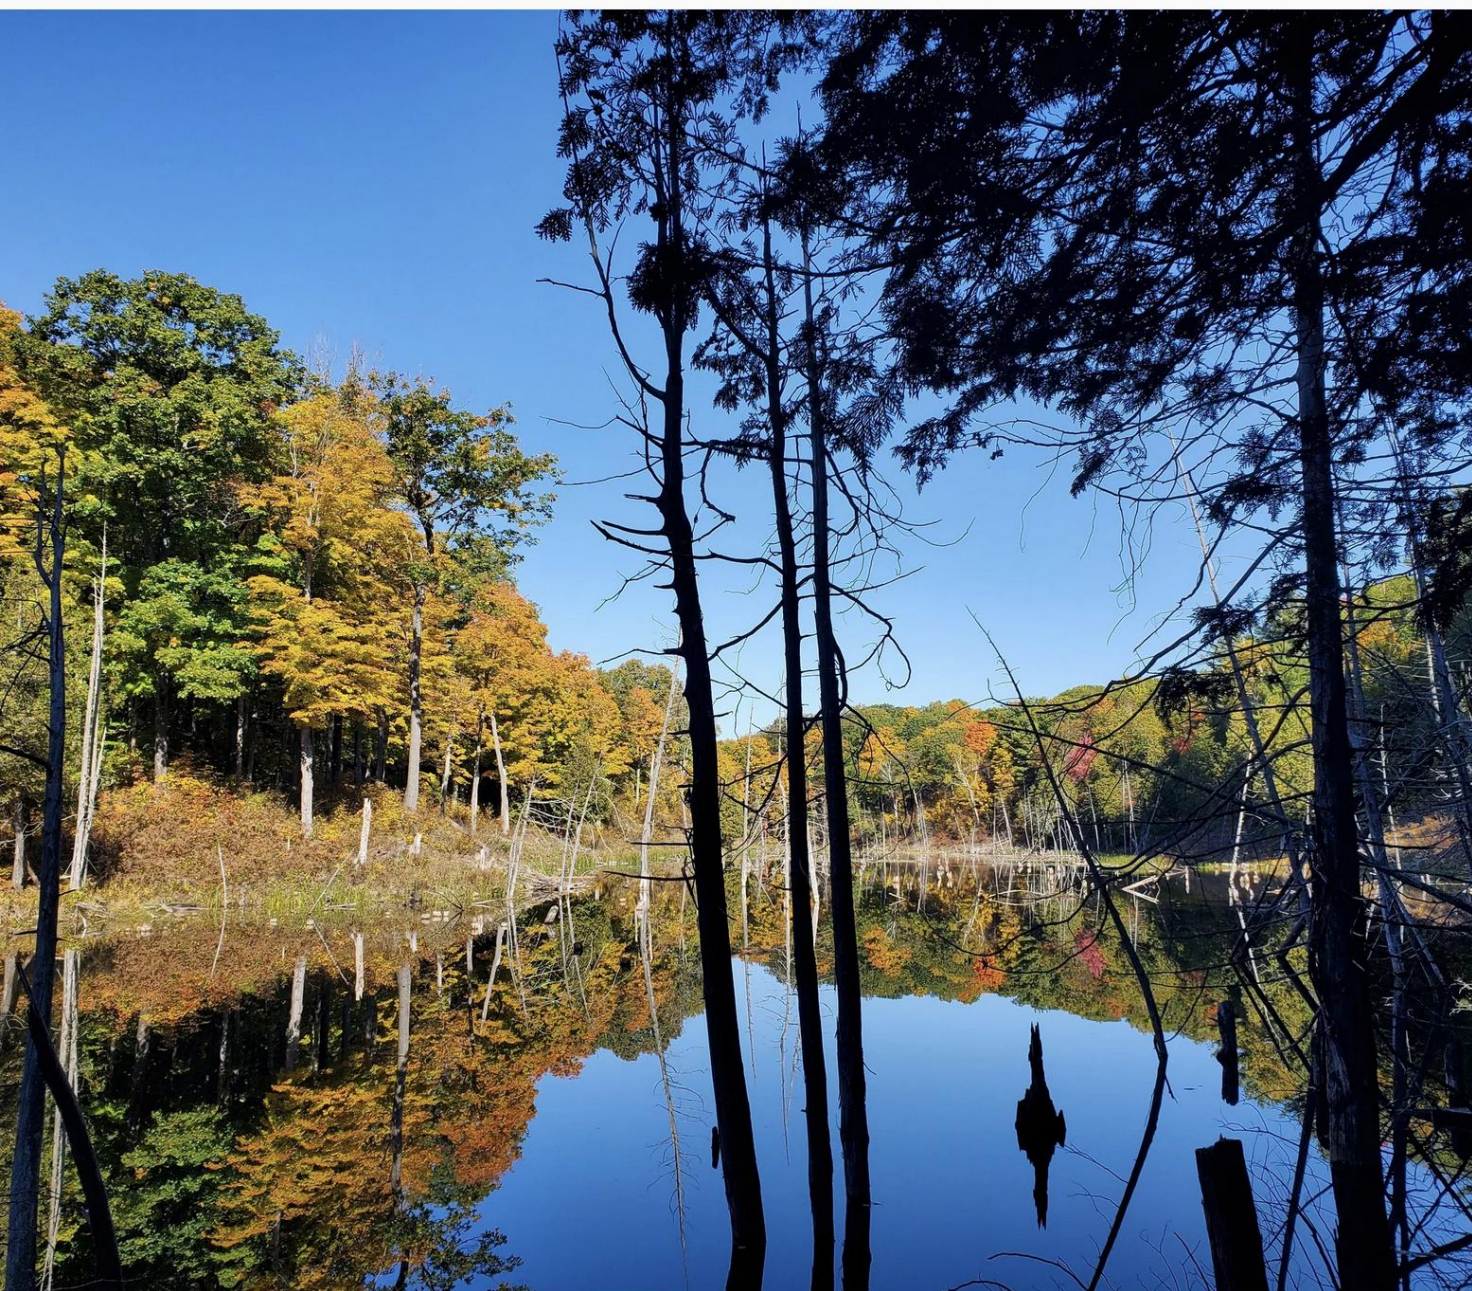

Reciprocal Relations

Our work is grounded in authentic relationships—among people, communities, and the natural world. We value open-hearted exchanges and mutual care as the foundation for healing, learning, and shared purpose. These connections offer a foothold for reimagining wellness and building a more balanced future.

Many Ways of Knowing

We embrace curiosity and learning in all its forms—from self-guided discovery to hands-on skill-building and peer-to-peer exchange. Whether it's building knowledge through creative writing, carpentry, or preserving food—or crafting innovative solutions to thorny problems—we believe everyone can learn from one another. We support learners of all kinds to grow, adapt, and share what they know.

The Place

Wintergreen Studios® is located on the traditional lands of the Anishinaabe peoples. For thousands of years, this place provided rich hunting and gathering grounds. Wintergreen is still a place for gathering, for peoples of all nations, Indigenous and settlers alike. Our land-based programming highlights the bounties of this land. We consider it our privilege to tread lightly on the land, using sustainable and regenerative practices. We thank you for joining us as we collectively strive towards making the promise and challenge of Truth and Reconciliation real in our community.

A photograph of a blue wooden door set within a rustic stone wall. The door has a curved top and a metal handle. The stone wall is made of irregular, light-colored stones. To the right of the door, a snowy landscape with bare trees is visible under a clear blue sky. The overall scene is a winter setting.
